

OGLE CO. MAN ACCUSED OF MURDER IN CANADA

ENGLISH TOLD OF PLAN TO PROVIDE REFUGE FOR JEWS

Chamberlain's Action is Believed Result of U. S. Co-operation

London, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today told the House of Commons of plans to lease 10,000 square miles in British Guiana to provide homes for German Jews seeking refuge abroad from the Nazi regime's anti-Jewish campaign.

The prime minister also disclosed that negotiations had made favorable progress for settling Jewish refugees in Tanganyika, formerly German East Africa, and other territories in Africa.

Tanganyika now is held by Britain under league mandate. Chamberlain last week declared the British government was not considering its return to Germany to satisfy Chancellor Hitler's colonial demands.

The widespread British action disclosed by the prime minister was understood to be the direct result of his recent consultations with United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy on the urgent problem of finding homes for tens of thousands of victims of the latest wave of Nazi anti-Semitism.

Believe Kennedy Helped

Kennedy was said to have worked in such close cooperation with the British colonial office that he helped draft Chamberlain's statement to Commons.

One high official source said that Washington authorities had estimated the United States

Like a Bombshell

Berlin, Nov. 21.—(AP)—British Prime Minister Chamberlain's disclosure that Tanganyika, Germany's former East African colony, might be used for settling Jews fell like a bombshell here today.

The Nazi press for days has been warning that "any such attempt would meet with the sharpest protest."

Many Germans interpret plans to settle German Jews in their former colonies as a move to prevent the return of such war-lost possessions to Germany.

One authoritative commentator declared "the Tanganyika step is an obvious attempt to prejudice the colonial question."

could contribute at least $100,000,000 in private and public funds to help settle Jews in new territory.

Chamberlain's disclosures were made prior to the opening of a scheduled general debate on the question of minorities in Europe.

The prime minister said the government would invite volunteer refugee organizations to send their own representatives to British Guiana, colony with an area of 89,480 square miles on the north-eastern coast of South America, to make surveys.

To Lease Land

"Provided the results of these surveys are satisfactory, the government contemplate the lease of large areas of land on generous terms under conditions to be settled hereafter," he announced.

"It is not possible at this stage to give exact figures of the total area, but it would certainly not be less than 10,000 square miles and possibly more."

Chamberlain told the house that the governor of Tanganyika had been asked to say whether land could be made available for leasing on generous terms "for the purpose of large-scale settlements to voluntary organizations concerned with refugees provided they undertake full responsibility of preparing the land and of settling refugees of suitable types as land is made available."

The governor of Tanganyika, Chamberlain continued, "has replied expressing his readiness to co-operate in any schemes of settlement of refugees as far as existing obligations will permit."

"The governor has expressed the view that the only suitable areas for large-scale settlements are likely to be found in the southern highlands and in part of the western province."

Ignores Nazi Agitation

Chamberlain ignored German press agitation against settling Jews in the former German East Africa. He said the governor there would welcome a mission from refugee organizations for the purpose of inspecting areas which might be available for settlement.

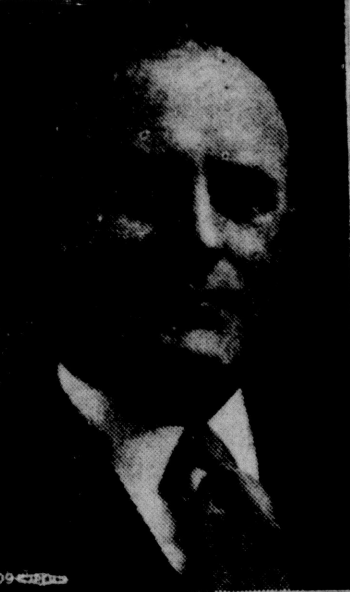

These he estimated at about 10,000 acres.

"In addition a scheme of small-scale settlements up to a total of 200 settlers is being considered," he said.

He added that replies from the governors of Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland Protectorate, British territories in southeastern Africa, indicated that small-scale

OTTO KERNER

Democratic Attorney General of Illinois who is slated to become Judge of the United States Court of Appeals. He and United States Attorney Michael Igo are slated for appointment to federal courts, while William J. Campbell, Illinois director of the NYA is slated to succeed Igoe.

KERNER AND IGOE TO BE NAMED AS FEDERAL JUDGES

Chicago, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Three Illinois officials were notified today of their selection by President Roosevelt for Federal appointments, two to judgeships and the other as United States attorney.

The appointments, which lacked only the formal presidential announcement, would be:

Attorney General Otto Kerner as judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

United States Attorney Michael L. Igoe as United States district judge.

William J. Campbell, Illinois director of the National Youth Administration, as United States attorney succeeding Igoe.

The prospective appointees were notified by telephone of their selection by Joseph B. Keenan, assistant to the Attorney General, who said he would come here from Washington Wednesday with the formal commissions.

Expect Announcement

A formal announcement by President Roosevelt from Warm Springs, Ga., was expected today or tomorrow.

The three officials made plans to be sworn in immediately after Keenan's arrival with the commissions. They would then take their new posts at once. Simple ceremonies were planned, probably at the new quarters of the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Kerner, Igoe and Campbell disclosed the telephonic notification from Keenan.

Kerner added he had not resigned as Illinois' attorney general and would not until he received the judgeship commission.

CASSIDY SUCCESSOR

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Arthur P. O'Brien, secretary to Governor Horner, said today the resignation of Otto Kerner as attorney general to accept appointment as a judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals was expected today.

O'Brien said the resignation would be presented to Governor Horner in Chicago and that the governor then would appoint John E. Cassidy of Peoria as attorney general.

Kerner's appointment to the judgeship by President Roosevelt has been made and should reach Kerner in Chicago today, O'Brien said. The appointment long had been recommended by Horner.

Arrangements for Cassidy's induction as attorney general were incomplete, but O'Brien said he probably would come here to take the oath soon after his appointment.

He said the mercury ranged from 42 to 46 in Illinois today, would hold at around 40 tonight but a sharp drop would begin tomorrow morning, bringing a low of about 20 in this area tomorrow night. Chicago's minimum for the season so far was 29 on November 14.

Donnel said the drop in Wisconsin, beginning tonight, would

GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS USED TO SPREAD HATES

Dies Committee Given Sensational Testimony Secretly

Washington, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Chairman Dies (D-Tex.) of the house committee investigating un-American activities asserted today that testimony received secretly from government employees Saturday had disclosed a "deliberate, long-time use of government publications to spread class hatred throughout the United States."

He said "communist phraseology" was used on some occasions in the publications and that the testimony "revealed a very alarming situation."

The chairman read into committee records an article in which he said David J. Saposs, national labor relations board economist, had urged workers to establish socialism by force if political action failed.

The article appeared in "Labor Age" in 1931.

Dies said attempts had been made to make it appear the statements were not the views of Saposs.

"Economic Crackpots"

"The reason we've emphasized this," he added, "is because Saposs is representative of a number of government officials—economic crackpots who have been drawn to Washington. They range from outright socialists to communists. The committee in the short time left to it is going to do all it can to expose them."

John Metcalfe, committee investigator, took the witness stand to present documents which Dies said linked numerous organizations in this country with anti-religious and anti-racial activities.

Dies read what he said were extracts from some of the documents assailing Jews, government officials and the Masonic lodge.

Among the organizations named were: Association of American Gentiles, Chicago; The Christian American Patriots; The Christian Campaign Committee; The Christian Constitutional Party; The Christian Commonwealth League; The Christian Protestant Party; Friends of New Germany; The German - American Business League; The German-American Economic Alliance; The Defenders of American Liberty, Lehigh, Iowa and the D. K. V.

Germany's Note About Austria's Debt Arrives

Washington, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Secretary of State Hull said today a note had been received from Germany concerning Austria's debts to the United States, but he would not disclose its nature.

He added, however, that it did not purport to be final and therefore was not entirely satisfactory to this government.

The note replied to American notes of April 6 and June 9, demanding that Germany, now that it has absorbed Austria, assume responsibility for that country's debts to the United States.

HORNER RECOVERING

Chicago, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Associates of Gov. Horner said today the ailing chief executive might be able to return to Springfield Wednesday.

The governor was stricken with a cold a few days before election and has been recuperating in his suite at the Congress hotel.

Yesterday he was taken for an automobile drive and a spokesman said "he's coming along fine."

Rock-a-Bye Baby

Yonkers, N. Y., Nov. 21.—(AP)—A youth stole a car here without realizing that 18-month-old Marguerite Oliver, daughter of the owner, was dozing in a basket in the rear of the vehicle.

In his flight, the thief crashed into a truck, wrecking the car so badly he left it and fled on foot.

When the worried parents arrived at the scene, a policeman led them silently to the smashed car.

"Sh-h-h-h," he warned pointing to the basket.

The baby was still asleep.

MAIN WITNESS IN BOMBING CASE IS REPORTED MISSING

St. Louis, Nov. 21.—(AP)—A few hours after the city's entire detective force of 240 men had been ordered into the hunt today for two gunmen who attempted to kill an important state's witness in a bombing trial it was announced a second witness could not be found.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Robert Y. Woodward said an investigator from his office and deputy sheriffs had been unable to locate Otis Gordon, negro, who was to testify for the state in the bombing trial of Isadore Londe, paroled convict. Gordon lived above a cleaning shop Londe is accused of bombing.

The revelation was made on the heels of the attempted murder Friday of Louis Lee Baker, 39-year-old negro, and the state's ace witness against Londe.

Two former convicts are being hunted by police as the gunmen who lured Baker from a hiding place authorities provided him on a cotton plantation near Sikeston, Mo. He was taken to an abandoned clubhouse in St. Louis county, shot three times and left for dead. Several other police characters have been arrested and are held for questioning.

Gordon's absence was disclosed as the Londe case was called in Circuit court. At the request of the state the trial was postponed until Baker recovers sufficiently to testify.

Woodward expressed belief Gordon was hiding "because of fear" since the Baker shooting.

Supreme Court to Take Up Fansteel's Action

Washington, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The Supreme Court agreed today to review a lower court decision that an employer may dismiss workmen who engage in a sit-down strike.

This ruling, by the Federal Court at Chicago, upheld the Fansteel Metallurgical Corporation of North Chicago in discharging employees who seized two key buildings in 1937.

After retaining possession of the buildings for nine days, the workmen were driven out by police with the use of tear and nauseating gas.

The court also reaffirmed a previous decision holding that the General Talking Pictures Corporation of New York City had infringed patents owned by the Western Electric Company and others for use in making talking pictures.

The justice department had taken the opposite position, contending that it would "put the administration of the anti-trust acts in serious jeopardy." Justices Black and Reed dissented.

SLIGHT LET-DOWN SEEN IN GERMAN DRIVES ON JEWS

Still Facing Problem of Living From One Day To the Next

Berlin, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The first dim signs of a slackening in the anti-Jewish drive appeared today, after 11 days in which even the homes of foreigners were reported searched for Jews.

The let-down did not lessen general despair nor what was for many Jews an acute problem—how to live from day to day. They were unable to draw upon bank reserves to replenish ready cash funds because the head of the house, who made the deposits, was under arrest.

Nevertheless, there was at least a monetary end to the wholesale arrests which Jews estimate sent 60,000 of their men to jail and concentration camps.

A usually good authority said some Jews would be permitted to continue their export businesses, because their contacts abroad were too valuable to abandon in the face of decreasing foreign orders for German goods.

To Resume Activity

Propaganda Minister Goebbels announced November 12 that Jewish organizations would be permitted to resume activity.

The first result is to be a presentation tomorrow to Fritz Witten, leading Jewish theatrical producer.

Authorization to resume publication of announcements for the Jewish community, but without advertisements or news, was given the newspaper Judische Rundschau.

A Jewish vaudeville troupe, on government orders, is to begin working November 26 with a farce called "Stewed Fruit."

The thin veneer of "concessions" did not alter the basic issues—the Jews still must pay a $400,000,000 penalty for the assassination of Ernst Vom Rath, the Paris embassy secretary; plans for their mass emigration remain indefinite; they are ordered to sell their shops to Aryan proprietors before the first of the year.

Pawn Clothing

The hardships were such that Vienna Jews were reported pawning clothing for money with which to buy food.

Newspaper attacks against Great Britain and the United States continued. The Boersen Zeitung called President Roosevelt the "prototype of the anti-German movement." Chancellor Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter published a discussion of the westward migration of Mormons which was termed an "American parallel to the Jewish problem in Germany."

Closing Arguments in Shanahan Will Hearing

Chicago, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Eugene Kealy, counsel for the plaintiffs in the battle over the legality of the deathbed marriage and will of David E. Shanahan, contended in closing arguments today that the aged legislator was under the influence of "enough drugs to dull any mind."

Kealy said hospital records of Oct. 2, 1936, three days before Shanahan and Miss Helen Troesch, his secretary, were married, showed that Shanahan "was very bad," and that he was given hypodermics to keep him quiet.

The hospital records, Kealy said, showed that Shanahan continually was under "enough drugs to dull any mind."

Court was recessed at noon until 2 P. M. C. S. T. when Kealy was to conclude his closing arguments.

LIVESTOCK TRADES AT CHICAGO STOCK YARDS STOP TODAY

Chicago, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Livestock trading at the stockyards was halted today by a strike called by the C. I. O. packing house workers union against the Union Stock Yards and Transit company.

Police Captain John Prendergast, who assigned 100 policemen to special duty at the yards, reported that about 175 stock handlers had refused to go to work.

He said the strike was for higher wages and vacations, but a spokesman for the company said no grievances had been submitted by the workmen.

The Livestock Handlers union, an A. F. of L. affiliate, was not participating in the strike.

Prendergast said that at a meeting of stock handlers last night a strike vote barely was carried by the C. I. O. supporters. Federation men being solidly opposed to it. There are about 700 stock handlers employed in the yards.

In previous years there have been similar strikes called shortly before the International Livestock Exposition, which opens at the yards Saturday.

Uniform Assessment Date is Recommended

Chicago, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Establishment of a uniform date for assessment of property for tax purposes was recommended today to representatives of 14 states attending the regional assembly of the council of state governments.

The recommendation that January 1 be set as the assessment date was made before the regional committee on conflicting taxation. S. E. Leland, Illinois tax commissioner presided.

Officials pointed out that because of a variety of assessment dates much property was lost for tax property in warehouses outside their state until after the assessment date.

An interstate compact designed to eliminate pollution of the Ohio river and its tributaries was submitted before the assembly.

Also included in the assembly's agenda were committee discussions on interstate trade barriers and Lake Michigan fisheries. Committee members included representatives from New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri and Nebraska.

Throop was indicted with four other men, against whom charges were dismissed after Throop declined to testify in the case.

HARRY W. HEIPEL CAUGHT AT LEAF RIVER SATURDAY

Alleged to Have Killed Saskatchewan Farmer Along Highway

Harry Wesley Heipel, 24-year-old paroled convict, a native of Ogle county, today faced murder charges and waived extradition to be returned to Winnipeg, Canada, this evening by two Canadian mounted police, who arrived in Oregon last night, seeking the slayer of a Moosimin, Saskatchewan, farmer. Heipel at the Ogle county jail today, maintained his innocence after long questioning, but his actions following the murder, which actions he was said to have admitted, warranted his return to Canada, it was stated.

Heipel was arrested at 10:45 Saturday night at the Eugene Bowman farm near Leaf River by Sheriff Delos Blanchard of Oregon. Acting upon advice from the office of Chief Constable George Smith of Winnipeg, which stated that Heipel was believed to be hitch-hiking to his former haunts in the vicinity of Leaf River, Sheriff Blanchard went to the Bowman farm home where he was informed that Heipel had accompanied members of the family to a movie at Rockford.

Sheriff Blanchard started for Rockford at once and had gone only a few miles when he identified the Bowman car returning from Rockford. He followed the car to the Bowman farm and placed Heipel under arrest before he had an opportunity to leave the machine. The young man was taken immediately to the county jail at Oregon where he was held and the Winnipeg police notified of his apprehension. Two Canadian mounted policemen, W. J. Gowdrey and E. H. Hermanson, arrived in Oregon last night to question the suspect.

Heipel was reported to have been suspected of the murder one week ago today of J. A. Kaeser, 65, whose body was found in a ditch along a highway on a prairie near Sinitula, Saskatchewan, Canada. He had been shot four times in the back, probably by a hitch-hiker, it was reported.

At the Ogle county jail today, it was reported that Heipel denied knowledge of the crime but admitted having driven the victim's car to Winnipeg, where it was found abandoned, November 12. Heipel told a story of having found the car on a highway while hitch-hiking from Arcola, Sask., and later turning it over to his brother Jack at Winnipeg.

At Winnipeg it was reported that Heipel told his brother Jack to take the car and enjoy a ride, which he did. Upon discovering blood stains on the upholstery, the brother was said to have driven the car back to Winnipeg, where he abandoned it on the streets.

Traced to Minneapolis.

Harry Heipel left Winnipeg, crossing the border into the states, hitch-hiking rides and making rapid progress. Canadian mounted police succeeded in tracing him to Minneapolis, where they lost the trail. According to the prisoner's statement, he continued from Minneapolis to the vicinity of Leaf River. He arrived at the Bowman farm at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. He had planned to remain with the Bowman family for a brief rest, then proceed south, he told the officers.

His mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Graham, reside at Egan, a small farming community in Ogle county, where the former manages an elevator and lumber yard. Heipel, according to the records at the Ogle county sheriff's office was sentenced to serve one to 14 years on a charge of forgery, having been sentenced from the Ogle county circuit court. He was delivered to the Joliet penitentiary and because of his youth, was transferred to the Pontiac reformatory, February 22, 1937. He was paroled and deported to Canada, March 16, 1938.

In his statement to the officers at Oregon, Heipel said he had been employed on a farm in Saskatchewan. While he strongly maintained his innocence of the crime of which he is suspected, the Canadian officials were said to have learned in their investigation, that a man answering Heipel's description had checked two grips belonging to the slain man at a railroad station at Winnipeg.

Kaeser, prominent Saskatchewan farmer, formerly lived at St. Louis, Mo., and Madison, Wis., before moving to Canada in 1906. He was last seen alive in Regina, Sask., and was believed to have carried a large sum of money

The Army Post Murders

By VIRGINIA HANSON

The Characters
Katherine Cornish, myself, visiting Elizabeth on a mid-western Army post.
Elizabeth, Colonel Wright's daughter.
Adam Drew, acting commanding officer.

Yesterday, the strange woman is the girl I saw on the train. She loses consciousness and Adam sends me to the hospital where the others are waiting for news of Anne.

Chapter 15
'Who Is She?'
Doc Moore's glance went from face to face. His own was calm, professionally detached.
"There's nothing anyone can do," he said.
The words lay in the room like the visible presence of death. Elizabeth groined for a chair-back. Barney's face jerked, his eyes closed. He stumbled to the window and looked out into the darkness. Annie's hands twitched in her lap. Then she was beside Elizabeth, peering up at her with her little gnarled face that was like a withered, wind-fallen apple. "You'd best be taking me to—to her mother," she said.
Barney turned from the window.

"Shall I go with you, Elizabeth?" he asked gently.
Her pitiful eyes searched his face, seemed to mark the composition he had gained.
"No, you go on to the club—see what Major Drew wants. I'll be along in a few minutes."

Doc Moore was telling Annie that he would be in to see Mrs. Carver as soon as he could. Then the three of them were gone, and I was delivering my message in a quick undertone.
He was already fumbling with the tapes of the surgical gown which he was wearing over his white drills.

"I'll ride with you—you can tell me the details," he said. "Turn your car around. I'll be right out."

He joined me in a minute, dressed once more for evening and carrying his emergency kit.
"Now tell me again," he directed as I headed the car down Officers' Row.

So I described once more my first sight of the girl on the stairs, the peculiar motions she was making and my finding her collapsed a few minutes later. He questioned me minutely about the color of her face; and was I sure there was foam on her lips? Then he made me describe in detail her actions when I first saw her.

"The aura," he murmured.
"What do you think she was poisoned?"
"No—that I'll have to see her, of course. Tell me, was she breathing when you touched her?"
"I didn't notice. You see, I thought she was dead—I took it for granted. You think she may not have been?"

"Possible—with a heart . . ."
He was silent for a long minute. We flashed past Elizabeth's car parked in front of the Carver's quarters.
"Did you ever see anyone in an epileptic seizure?" he asked suddenly.

"Heavens, no. You—you mean that girl—that's what it was?"
"Sounds like it. That motion of the arm—the aura. Typical warning of the nervous system. She would know, you see, and try to summon help."

"Come! If You Must!"
"Then I should have stayed—instead of leaving her there."
"There was nothing you could do. It was all over by the time you reached her. Of course this is all speculation. I shouldn't make a diagnosis until I see the patient. By all means keep quiet about it. She may very well have had something—nervous shock often brings on these attacks."

As we wheeled in at the curb I saw Barney mounting the front steps of the club. I drew Doc Moore after me to the door of the dressing room.

My luck held; we reached the balcony unseen. Adam was watching for us from a half-open door at the end of a corridor above the reading room.
"She's alive," he said in a low voice. "I found her room—she's staying here all right; and carried her in there. She's either unconscious or sleeping very heavily. She hasn't stirred."

Doc Moore brushed past him and entered the room.
I asked Adam the question upmost in my mind.
"Who is she?"

"I found a letter addressed to Miss Ethel Curtis. Does that mean anything to you?"
I shook my head.

"The luggage was new and unmarked. The clothes look new, too, what there are of them. But I may as well show you the letter—is there enough light? I don't want to attract anyone up here."

"I can see to read it."
I took the envelope from his hands. It was addressed to Miss Ethel Curtis, Hillside Sanitarium, A—, Illinois. The single sheet of paper was typewritten and unsigned, and began without salutation.

"Come if you must, but don't try to telephone me or see me. You owe me that much, at least. Go straight to the Service club; you can't miss it. It's a white frame building. Walk in—the woman's room is on the left. There's a staircase to the upper floor. Choose a room—they're all vacant—and wait there until I come. Friday night—there'll be a dance. Better take some sandwiches; I don't want you wandering around the post. Keep under cover or you'll wish you had!"

"Then someone knows she's here," I said stupidly. "One of those—down there?"
"Probably. But not necessarily the murderer."

"Then why the secrecy?"

His smile was vaguely reassuring.
"Let your creative imagination go to work on that. I'd say the possibilities are numerous."

"Doc Moore thinks she—it may have been epilepsy."
Adam's blue eyes sparkled in the semidarkness. "There's one of your answers," he said.

I was still thinking about that when the door of her room opened and the young doctor beckoned to Adam.

Their low-voiced murmur went on for some time on the other side of the door. Presently Adam appeared, looking intensely excited, and drew me into the dimly lighted room.

Oddly Familiar
The blinds had been closed drawn to prevent any telltale glimmer escaping to street. The furnishings were cold and bare looking, but at least a cheap chest of drawers, painted white, surmounted by a small, wavy mirror; a bedside table, one chair, which held an open suitcase; and the girl's discarded clothing; and a white iron bed, single size, ornamented with the insignia of the Quartermaster Corps.

St. was lying very still, breathing heavily, in deep sleep.
As Doc suspected, it was a convulsion," Adam explained in a low, hurried voice. "She should sleep for a while. In the meantime Doc is needed back at the hospital—tell her what you told me about Anne."

Captain Moore looked apologetic. "I would have told you all this long ago, but Adam gave me instructions when he found she was still breathing. There's a chance in a hundred that we can save her."

"Anne? You mean she's alive?"
"By the best of luck the bullet missed the heart and the other vital organs; but there was internal bleeding. We had to explore, tie off—she was still alive when I left her, but I'll have to go right back. Unfortunately I'm alone for the week-end. The surgeon is in Chicago. . . . There'll have to be blood transfusions; all of the orderlies have volunteered and they're testing the blood group now."

"I want this kept quiet, at least until I can get on with the investigation," Adam interposed hurriedly. "It may be for her protection—I don't know; anyway, that's the feeling I've got."
"This girl, here—I can't take her to the hospital. Doc Moore went on apologetically. "We're not equipped to take care of women—no nurses, no ward. And there's no other hospital in twenty miles. I've got Anne in the officers' ward, which was fortunately empty; and I've telephoned for a nurse; but I wouldn't dare put this girl in with her."

"I see; you want me to stay here with her until she wakes up. All right."

They both looked inexpressibly relieved.
"I'll be right at the foot of the stairs, in the reading room," Adam said consolingly. "I've got to get these people's stories and let them go home."

"She'll be quite all right," the doctor assured me. "Just make her stay in bed."
I kept on telling him that I didn't mind the assignment, and finally they bowed themselves out. Adam stuck his head back in long enough to tell me that when she woke up I was to call him. I could come to the foot of the stairs and wiggle the curtains and he would know I wanted him.

Then the door closed and the room began to fill with the girl's heavy breathing.
I found I was still holding the letter Adam had shown me. I moved the suitcase to the floor, noticing that it was new and neatly empty, and sat on the hard straight chair under the light of the single wall bracket that flanked the chest of drawers.

Once more I read the typewritten note, but midway I lost the sense of the words, arrested by an oddly familiar idiosyncrasy of one of the letters—the tail of the "y" was almost obliterated.

MOURNING STOPS SWARMS
Louisville, Ky.—(AP)—Despite modern agricultural methods, farmers in some parts of Kentucky still allow superstition to regulate their bee culture.

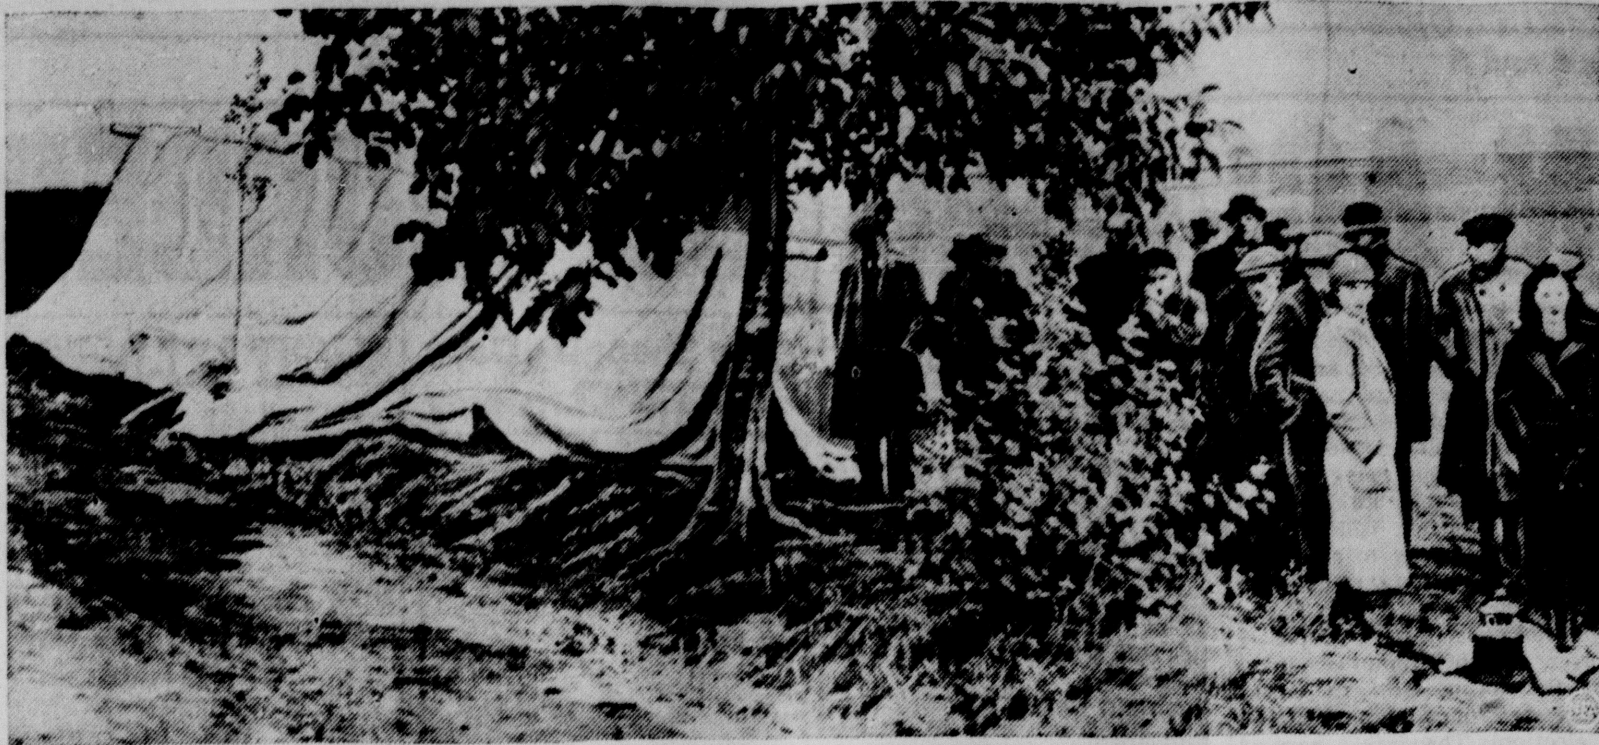

Editors of the federal writers' project, a division of the works progress administration, reported they found many bee-keepers draped their hives in black immediately after the death of a member of the bee "household."

The draps are left on until after burial "services" because the belief exists that were the practice abandoned the bees would swarm.

Sudetenland Jews Condemned to Tent Ghetto in German-Czech No-Man's-Land

Innocent victims of the diplomatic chess game that changed their nationality without consulting them, hundreds of Jews huddle, homeless, penniless and hungry, in the neutral no-man's-land between the new German Sudetenland and Czechoslovakia. Expelled from their Sudeten homes by Nazi Storm Troopers who followed the German army of occupation, they were refused admittance to Czechoslovakia ostensibly because they are technically German citizens. The photo above was taken south of Brno, where 150 Jewish refugees, many stricken with influenza, made a roadside camp. Some slept under hedges or ditches. Luckier ones, like those pictured, found shelter under makeshift tents.

Do You Know Illinois

By EDWARD J. HUGHES, Secretary of State

Q. When and where did the Republican senatorial campaign of 1858 open?

A. Springfield, June 16, 1858.
Q. What phrase was used in naming Lincoln as the Republican senatorial candidate and what prompted its use?

A. He was named "first and only" choice for the Senate in rebuke to pro-Douglas sentiment within the party.
Q. With what famous speech did Lincoln respond to his nomination?

A. The "house divided" speech.
Q. Where and when did Lincoln study Douglas preparatory to the 1858 debates?

A. Chicago, July 9; Bloomington, July 16; Springfield, July 17.
Q. How was the State divided politically at this time?

A. The northern part of the State was for Lincoln without question. The southern part for Douglas. The central portion (Old Line Whig) was the battle ground.

Q. What was Lincoln's strategy during the campaign?

A. In canvassing the central counties Lincoln determined to follow close on Douglas' heels. He waited until Douglas published a lot of speaking engagements before announcing his own.

Q. Did Lincoln in his 1853 speeches insist literally on the freedom and equality of all men?

A. In his Chicago speech of July 10 he was careful to explain that the Declaration of Independence did not mean that men were equal in all respects. He said: "I say in relation to the principle that all men are created equal, let it be as nearly reached as we can. If we cannot give freedom to every creature, let us do nothing that will impose slavery upon any other creature."

Q. What was Lincoln's attitude on the Dred Scott decision?

A. His claim was that by it popular sovereignty was reduced to nothing.
Q. What was Douglas' expressed attitude on the Dred Scott decision?

A. He claimed that it challenged popular sovereignty only in theory, and that people could keep out slavery by unfriendly legislation.

Q. How did Lincoln answer this assertion of Douglas?

A. He flatly denied it, stating that the institution of slavery had too much vitality to be thus suppressed. Beside every legislator would be under a moral obligation to provide safeguarding legislation. When Douglas asked whether he would vote for such legislation were he a member of a territorial legislature, he evaded answering.

Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

The owner of a very valuable collection of jewelry reported to the police that his home had been broken into and robbed of several of the finest pieces of his collection. Immediately a police delegation was sent to investigate and, of course, the insurance investigators were present. The man took the police and other officials in through the back door and showed them where the screen door had been slashed, evidently when the robber broke in. It was decided that there was nothing extraordinary about the case and the officials prepared to leave. Just as they again approached the back door an officer coming up from an outside inspection tore his sleeve on the screen door as he stood on the porch. Some time later the whole case and the various reports were filed and when the man tried to collect his insurance he found that the investigators were smarter than he. What had they discovered?

CO. SUPT. MILLER SHOWN HONOR

Teachers of County Present Him With Watch At Banquet

County Superintendent L. W. Miller was taken completely by surprise Saturday evening, when he and Mrs. Miller entered the lobby at the Hotel Nachusa and were escorted into the dining room where about 175 Lee county teachers were assembled. The affair was very cleverly planned and three committees of teachers efficiently provided the evening's entertainment.

The finance committee was composed of Mrs. Coral Lambert, Miss Julia Brechon and Mrs. Allan P. Reed; the program committee, Mrs. Marie Malach and Mrs. Evelyn Kranov; and the reception committee, Mrs. Viola Wagner, Franklin Grove; Mrs. Emma Mehlebrech, Compton; Mrs. Johanna Fitzpatrick, Amboy and Miss Lolita Koehler, West Brooklyn.

As the guests entered the dining hall, Mrs. Miller was presented with an arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums. A delicious roast turkey repast was enjoyed, after which Mrs. Malach announced the program. Miss Clara McCune, a veteran teacher, led the community singing, after which individual introductions were in order. Mrs. Kranov and Mrs. Agnes Lally sang a duet number, accompanied at the piano by Miss Elaine Kranov.

County Judge Grover W. Gehant responded with appropriate remarks, and Mrs. C. J. Brader of Mendota, a former Lee county teacher, gave a humorous reading. Superintendent A. H. Lancaster of the Dixon public schools congratulated the guest of honor on his 28 successful years in office and Mrs. Ella Herbert of this city accompanied by Miss Elaine Kranov of Harmon, sang two numbers, for one of which Mrs. Malach had supplemented words to fit the occasion.

Sheriff Ward T. Miller, Principal B. J. Frazer of the Dixon high school and John A. Torrens of Ashton, county superintendent-elect, Superintendent Trauber of the Lee center high school, Superintendent Funkhouser of the Amboy high school, Miss Vincent, a former Lee county teacher and Mrs. Allan Reed were called upon and responded with short talks.

Like Memorial
Prof. Torrens in his talk, likened the 28 years of faithful service of Prof. Miller to the building of a memorial in the hearts of the men and women as well as the children of Lee county which, he said was greater than one which could have been builded with human hands.

At the conclusion of the program, Prof. Miller was the recipient of a beautiful gold watch and chain, a present from the teachers of Lee county. Upon the back of the watch, the following inscription was engraved: "L. W. Miller, Lee county teachers, 1938". Mrs. Allan Reed, assistant to the superintendent, was also presented with a beautiful brooch.

In response to the presentation, Prof. Miller charged that the teachers of Lee county were past masters of collusion as well as being the finest group of teachers in Illinois. He thanked the teachers for the many kindnesses over the period of 28 years, and announced that upon his leaving office on August 7 next he had no intention of hibernating, but would continue to visit schools in the county.

The teachers of Lee county, he said, had kept abreast of the trends of modernization and development. He likewise commended the high caliber of officials serving Lee county with whom he has been brought into close contact over a long period, and in conclusion, said:

"I have done my best to keep the boy from being sent to St. Charles and the girl to Geneva and have pleaded that they be given another chance and sent back to us, where I believe they should be sent to be given another opportunity."

$52,521,892 Given to Illinois for Projects
Washington.—(AP)—With announcement last night that the 1938 PWA program virtually had been completed, it was disclosed that $52,521,892 had been allotted for 231 projects in Illinois.

Secretary Ickes said New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio, largest in population, led the allotment list in that order. The report showed PWA grants in Illinois amounted to $51,497,393. Loans totaled $1,024,500.

Allotments for the 1938 program, it was announced, were $723,895,474 in loans and grants for non-federal projects, from $724,000,000 made available to the PWA for that purpose. In addition the PWA allotted $199,999,206.91 to all federal agencies for federal projects and had a balance of $795.09 from the $200,000,000 federal project fund.

Calvin Coolidge made the largest number of appointments of any President of the United States; they totaled 42,121.

Coming Conference in Paris Will Be Chilly

Paris, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Indications that Great Britain would refuse to train a large army to aid French troops on the continent in the event of war appeared likely to lend an icy atmosphere to Premier Daladier's talks with Prime Minister Chamberlain this week.

Two days before Chamberlain is scheduled to arrive with Viscount Halifax, his foreign minister, sources close to the government said the British premier again had indicated conviction that his country's large fleet and growing air force were a sufficient contribution to the British-French military cooperation.

Discussions between the British and French ministers, it was ascertained, will deal chiefly with defense against a possible attack from the fascist partners—Italy and Germany.

This was decided upon, politicians said, because it was felt international protests against Nazi attacks upon Jews forced a temporary shelving of Chamberlain's project for further appeasement of Chancellor Hitler—possibly with colonial territory.

The French attitude has been that its army of approximately 700,000 men cannot bear the brunt of a war against Germany and Italy.

The two premiers are expected to go deeply into the problem of settling the Spanish civil war.

Chamberlain was reported to have another plan for mediation but it included granting to the insurgents belligerent rights (rights of a government at war) to which the French are opposed.

Chief of Army's Staff Still Firm for Infantry

Washington, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Government military experts said today the administration's prospective armament program promises to upset the established relationship of air forces to the army and navy.

At present, air forces are ranked officially as auxiliaries to both ground troops and the fleet's battleships and cruisers.

Officers and men of the army air corps compose only about 21,000 of the army's aggregate of 177,000 for all units. Quarruping the corps, officials suggested Friday as a possibility of Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, would call for an air force of upwards of 100,000.

Johnson, a key figure in the administration's re-survey of defense needs, hinted that Roosevelt might ask congress to authorize an army air force of 9,250 first-line planes. By official estimates, these would require 95,000 or more pilots and mechanics.

When the first suggestion of multiplying American forces was advanced after the Munich conference, some high-ranking officers privately dubbed it "fantastic."

General Malin Craig, chief of staff, devoted only a paragraph to the air corps in his annual report, published last week. Making deductions from the war in Spain, he stressed that "infantry alone can win a decision. Each of the other arms is but an auxiliary."

Bundesen Gets Leave of Absence for Trial

Chicago.—(AP)—Dr. Robert A. Black, widely-known child specialist, was named by Mayor Edward J. Kelly yesterday as temporary president of the Chicago Board of Health, succeeding Dr. Herman N. Bundesen.

Dr. Black, a member of the board for three years and a professor of pediatrics at Loyola University School of Medicine, was appointed to fill the vacancy created last week when Dr. Bundesen obtained an indefinite leave of absence to defend himself against charges of conspiracy to fix milk prices and control milk production.

Bundesen was one of 96 individuals and organizations named in two indictments by a special federal grand jury which conducted a nation-wide investigation of the milk and ice cream industries in the government's anti-trust drive.

GREAT INCREASES IN PENSIONS WILL MEET OPPOSITION

Washington, Nov. 21.—(AP)—When it comes to the question of bigger pensions for younger persons, President Roosevelt and the conservatives are likely to speak the same language in the next Congress—At least far enough to say a common "no."

Nevertheless, numerous changes in the present Social Security Act will be presented to the new Congress on behalf of the administration. They will not be broad enough to still the rising clamor for larger pensions, but supporters of the President believe they are much more likely to be enacted than any of the higher powered pension schemes.

The administration proposals however, are not prompted entirely by the voting strength shown by high pension adherents in the last election. They are a part of the broad general program for social welfare envisioned when the original Social Security bill was worked out.

Since the chief phases of that program dealt with insurance, the new thoughts that appear likely to find their way into any administration bill are simply added benefits which might be figured into an ordinary insurance policy.

In the minds of administration thinkers, the workers who pay a tax on their earnings merely are paying premiums on an insurance policy that matures when they are 65. After that date it assures them a specified income for the rest of their lives, the size of the income dependent on the amount of the premiums they have paid.

Looking at it from that angle, the next things to be added would be a provision to take care of those who become permanently and totally disabled and to provide for their widows and orphans if the insured worker dies before reaching 65.

Collateral phases of the proposed changes would be to boost the amount that may be paid to those who reach 65 during the next five or ten years. This would cover persons who have not paid the tax premiums long enough to build up a reserve that will yield an annuity big enough to count.

Two controversial suggestions would expand the act to cover agricultural and domestic workers, and would add medical care to the list of things which the citizens look to the government to provide. There is no certainty that these two provisions will go into the administration bill at this session.

Two Miners Rescued After 40 Hours Entombment

Shenandoah, Pa., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Two dazed coal miners rested uninjured in a hospital today and told of surviving 40 hours' entombment at the bottom of a 50-foot shaft.

They were rescued yesterday after nearly two full days and nights of frantic diggings after the shaft in which they were working collapsed Friday, dumping tons of dirt and heavy timbers.

William Bokuniewicz, 53, said it was his third rescue from a collapsed shaft and that he was going back to work.

Bokuniewicz's helper, Joseph Comisky, 18, said he probably would return as soon as he leaves the hospital. He dozed off once, he related, and "dreamed I was in a coffin, and that made me afraid to go to sleep again."

The older man said he did not fall asleep once.

"I was pretty worried at first," he told rescuers, "because there were continual rushes of coal and dirt."

"I kept exercising to keep warm and tried to get Comisky to do the same."

CAUTION WILL BE WATCHWORD OF G. O. P. IN CONGRESS

Washington, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Prominent Republican senators disclosed today they were eager to retain the bi-partisan coalition which shelved the Roosevelt court bill and fought various other administration measures.

These men, although elated by their party's congressional gains, said Republicans in the 1939 senate and house should exercise caution in taking a partisan attitude.

In that way, they hope to keep the cooperation of anti-administration Democrats who heretofore have joined them in debate and on roll calls.

Some politicians have predicted that the recent election would tend to weld divergent elements of the Democratic party together for a common-front fight against the Republican minority.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), however, expressed the view that the Republican gains "have not weakened the coalition."

"There will be no change in attitude on basic issues," he said, although he added that on "purely political issues" there might be less cooperation between Republicans and dissident Democrats in the future.

Republicans "don't want to be too cocky" about the election results, he continued, voicing the hope they "will not engage in any blind opposition."

In several cases, Vandenberg asserted, the election may serve to strengthen the coalition movement. He recalled that Senators George (D-Ga.), Smith (D-S.C.), and Tydings (D-Md.), frequent administration opponents, were re-elected despite Roosevelt's opposition.

In the new senate the Republicans

Decatur, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dugdale at East St. Louis and Mrs. Laura Markham at St. Louis Mo., expecting to remain ten days or two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Woodworth and family were entertained at dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William McGraw at Rockford.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson attended a potluck dinner Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Algot Peterson in Rockford. Grover Stroh of Rockford was an Oregon visitor Friday.

icans will have 23 seats, exactly one-third the Democratic strength. To defeat an administration measure, they would need the votes of about 25 Democrats. In the house, between 45 and 50 Democrats normally would have to join the Republicans in order to get a working majority.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Soul and Body" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 20.

The Golden Text was, "Yea, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee" (Isaiah 26:8).

Among the citations comprising the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I will bless the Lord at all times; his praise shall continually be in my mouth. My soul shall make her boast in the Lord: the humble shall hear thereof, and be glad. O magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt his name together" (Psalm 34:1-3).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Soul is the substance, Life, and intelligence of man, which is individual, but not in matter. Soul can never reflect anything inferior to Spirit" (p. 477).

YOUR WILL-POWER ...THE MODERN HAZARD TO YOUR NERVES

BEAGLE HOUND
English fox-hound in miniature. Solid and big for his inches, true beagle has the long-wearing look of the hound that can last in the chase. One of the oldest breeds in history—close to the original breed of hounds, U. S. standards specify 15 inches maximum height—any true hound color acceptable.

HE'S GIVING HIS NERVES A REST....
AND SO IS HE

THE frazzling pace of these fast-moving times doesn't mean a thing in the life of the dog. Although his complex, high-keyed nervous system closely resembles our own, when the dog feels his nerves tire he settles down—relaxes—as the beagle hound above is doing. That is instinctive with the dog. We are not so likely to break nerve tension before it gets our nerves upset. Ambition and determination push us on and on...past the warning stage of nerve strain. Will-power silences the instinct to pause and rest.

And yet jittery, ragged nerves are a distinct handicap. Don't let your nerves get that way. Learn to ease the strain occasionally. Let up—light up a Camel! It's such a pleasant way to rest your nerves—a brief recess, mellow with the pleasure of Camel's mildness and ripe, rich taste. Yes, no wonder smokers say Camel's costlier tobaccos are so soothing to the nerves.

HITLER'S GOVERNMENT GOES MAD

Hitler's campaign against German Jews provides an example of how a government sated with absolute power can go completely mad. Nowhere else in the world, so far as we are aware, are members of a whole race held accountable of a crime committed by one of that race. Not only is the anti-Jewish drive without moral justification, but it is also without political justification. Unless the nazi government of Germany makes complete amends to all German Jews for the wrong they have suffered, Hitler and nazi-ism will be held in contempt for generations by intelligent people.

From the German nationalistic standpoint practically every other measure Hitler has taken could be justified. Even for this fact Hitler gets no credit, because the justification was created by the moderate republic which preceded nazi rule. Hitler was able to point to those temperate administrations and say that their attempts at conciliation with the allies had been futile; that Germany had gained nothing but poverty, bankruptcy, starvation and unemployment from Versailles; that the powers had broken their disarmament pledges, had ringed Germany with subsidized foes; had taken over control of German finances and waterways and left the Weimar republic with no means of defense against a Russia determined to overthrow other governments.

Hitler's method of tearing up the Treaty of Versailles by rearming the nation, fortifying the Rhine valley, establishing political and economic union with Austria, repudiating reparations and indemnities and grabbing Sudetenland was unorthodox. It left the general impression that Hitler may have been crazy, but at least crazy as a fox. He brought home the bacon. It was at the expense of other nations, but that is the way changes have been wrought in Europe throughout recorded history. Even in France and England there were influential groups who believed it best to let Hitler have his way as the best method of conciliation. These groups must now be disillusioned. Nothing can be gained by friendship with a German government which believes a whole race is guilty for one man's sin. The man Hitler is a maniac.

IT'S OUR PRIVATE AFFAIR

President Roosevelt, rightly, has protested in the name of humanity against German persecution of Jews. The world would have sunk to a low level indeed if the head of any civilized nation could see vicious persecution of any race go unchallenged.

However it should be made clear to the remainder of the world that the president protested in the name of the United States. It was our own spontaneous action and should not be tied up directly or indirectly with any of the shadowy indirection of British and French diplomacy. If we withdraw permanently our ambassador to Germany; if we bring about an open break of diplomatic relations, or if we take any other steps to show our displeasure at nazi fanaticism, it should be considered our private affair.

The fact that our government has made a frontal diplomatic assault upon Hitler's government need not mean, or should not mean, that we are bound to go to war or to take economic or political action to save Britain's colonies or the colonies of France. It should not be taken to mean that we are going to save the Franco-bolshevik military and political alliance, or that we intend to guarantee the borders or independence of any central European or Balkan state.

The British, taking heart at Roosevelt's scolding of the nazis, have announced that they are going to hold to their colonies and will not yield an inch. The French, taking heart at British speeches, have suddenly decided to hold to their colonies. Very well. That is their business. If they wish to go to war over them, let them fight it out. If they have assumed, simply because we dislike nazi persecution of Jews, that we have suddenly joined the league of nations, or that we have united with the shadowy remains of the Stresa front or the Locarno pact or what have you, they may be in for a disappointment.

Americans who wish to keep free of overseas politics have the right to assume that the president was speaking for the American front, not the common front.

SOLVING A BRITISH DILEMMA

One gilt-edged crisis chases another down Downing street. The quiet little avenue where the British ministers meet in long and dolorous sessions as the world of a few years ago tumbles about their ears is in a new tangle today. Someone proposed about a year ago, in the best beef-eater fashion, that a film, cinema or motion picture be made showing the extreme desirability of life in the air force of His Majesty.

It was proposed and disposed. The answer was no. Too undignified. Quite. But the proposal keeps bobbing up again and again with distressing frequency. At last it is even proposed that the hero be of the Clark Gable type. Bedlam and Billingsgate each contributed a share to the proceedings and the question is still undecided.

For the benefit of the Air Ministry—which includes the Royal Air Force, the Air Force Reserve, the Air Force Special Reserve, the Auxiliary Air Force, the Auxiliary Air Force Reserve and the Territorial Air Force—the answer should be: yes.

The man to play the leading part should be youthful, have a definite appeal to the imagination and look intelligent. Such a man not only is available at the moment—he is unemployed. His name is Anthony Eden.

CHAPLIN AND HITLER

This international situation is getting completely out of hand. County council of Huron county in Ontario has passed a resolution outlawing Hitler mustaches and instructing Sergeant Major James to arrest anyone wearing one.

This puts the sergeant major in the grease for the moment, but may have more important repercussions. Suppose Charlie Chaplin should get into Huron county? Must he, the heavy-footed comedian, the inventor of the blot mustache, go to jail because one of his imitators goes completely haywire?

A better solution of the problem would be to order Hitler to grow a handlebar mustache.

That should prove useful in future conferences. Half of the visiting delegation on one end of the shaggy adornment,

Washington—You can write it down in the book that Hugh Wilson will not return as U. S. Ambassador to Germany, unless it be for the purpose of packing up his furniture.

One reason for his recall was, of course, a desire to express moral indignation and rebuff the Nazis. But a second, under-cover reason is that Wilson never was slated for a long term as ambassador to Berlin.

A leader of the State department's pro-Nazi career clique, Wilson has always favored cooperation with Hitler. His policy has been to build Germany as a buffer against Russia—a policy identical to that of Neville Chamberlain and the notorious Nazi-loving Cliveden set.

Roosevelt sent Wilson to Germany on the advice of the State department, which wanted to try out the idea of turning the other cheek to the Nazis instead of constantly irking them as William Dodd, the previous outspoken ambassador, had done.

In agreeing to send Wilson to Berlin, Roosevelt, however, made it clear that he would probably replace Wilson with a political appointee at an early date, and it is quite possible that a presidential intimate such as Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan will get the job.

Meanwhile, the Berlin embassy is in charge of Prentiss Gilbert, one of the most democratic-minded counselors in the career service.

Another motive in the recall of Wilson is that it divorces U. S. policy from Chamberlain's and demonstrates to the American public that Roosevelt is not entirely following the lead of Downing Street, as he definitely has done in the past. Chamberlain's Ambassador Neville Henderson, one of Berlin's most ardent foreign Nazi admirers, is a close friend of Wilson and his wife.

Premature

The extent to which Jim Farley was caught off base by the election is illustrated by this hilarious incident: A few minutes after the close of the Oregon polls, Jim wired congratulations to Willis Mahoney, Democratic senatorial candidate, on his resounding victory. Fifteen minutes after Mahoney got the telegram, first returns came in showing him running far behind.

Taxed Judges.

In the path of the Administration's drive to end federal tax immunity stands a large stumbling block placed there by a federal judge, and supported by other federal judges.

Judge Joseph W. Woodrough of the Circuit Court of Appeals in Omaha has filed suit against the Collector of Internal Revenue for refund of an income tax payment of $631.60 plus interest. The irony of Woodrough's action is that he was promoted to his present post by Roosevelt, with an increase of salary from $10,000 as District Judge to $12,500.

The first effort to tax the pay of federal judges was made in 1932 under President Hoover, when Congress passed a law that salaries of judges appointed after that date be subject to taxation like those of other federal officials. Woodrough maintains that this law is unconstitutional and has gone to the judiciary to uphold his stand.

Of the more than 60 federal judges appointed by Roosevelt, a majority are opposed to the statute that subjects them to taxation. Some have signified their intention to join suit with Woodrough.

Of the half dozen that favor the tax, three are Court of Appeals judges frequently mentioned as Supreme Court possibilities: Sam Bratton of New Mexico; Florence Allen of Ohio; and Harold M. Stephens of the District of Columbia.

Note.—If the case comes to the Supreme Court, three Justices will be obliged to abstain from an opinion because the law affects them. They are Justices Black, Reed, and the Justice to be appointed in Cadozo's place.

Capital Chaff.

As the first move in renewing his fight to wipe out chain stores, Representative Wright Patman of Texas has secretly arranged with House officials to have his bill made No. 1 in the new Congress. The measure would put a prohibitive tax on the chains. . . . A lot of campaign contributions are made sub-rosa, but the names of the donors not appearing on official reports. During the recent election many conservative Democrats contributed to Republican pulling for dear life against the members on the other side, might quickly bring compromise from Hitler.

Such a victory should be known as a mustache coup.

candidates "sub-Roosevelt". . . . Newspapers are intensely watching the case in which The Los Angeles Times was held in contempt of court for commenting on a judge's decision. The judge held no comment could be made until after the case had been settled on appeal. So serious is the matter considered by publishers that Ed Scripps, head of the Scripps League of Newspapers, has asked his astute attorney, Sam Hahn, to aid The Times.

Business men shivering in their boots for fear of what the monopoly committee may do to them will be interested in this confidential description of the investigation agreed upon by the probers:

"There are two kinds of congressional investigations. One, such as the Teapot Dome, Pecora banking and LaFollette civil liberties probes, seeks to effect moral reforms by exposing and eradicating crookedness and abuses in government and business. The second is functional investigation, whose purpose is to find out what is wrong with the established economic system in order to make it work more smoothly and equitably. That is the sole objective of the monopoly inquiry."

Note.—The official title of the anti-trust committee is the Temporary National Economic Committee.

Hull of Hollywood.

Cordell Hull is rated popularly as a star of the Roosevelt Cabinet, but as a movie star he is a total loss.

Recently he consented to pose for a newsreel showing how he runs the State Department. Prize shot was to be an interview with a group of newsmen in his private office.

When Hull arrived "on the lot" at 9:30 A. M., he found his office cluttered with cables, cameras, mikes, and power lamps. A rehearsal was staged. A newsmen asked a question, and Hull reeled off his answer letter perfect.

Finally the director called for the actual recording. He clapped his hands, and the cameras began to grind.

Hull spoke one sentence, then stopped dead. He cleared his throat, but still no words. A long, embarrassing silence. At last the director clapped his hands and cried "Cut!" The cameras stopped.

The Secretary of State had forgotten his lines.

The director consoled him. "That's okay, Mr. Secretary. We'll try it again." The newsmen asked his question and Hull began his explanation of foreign policy. But at the end of the first sentence he again came to a dead stop. Another long pause, finally broken by the director's sharp "cut."

For a second time Hull had forgotten his lines.

The third time he struggled laboriously through the ordeal. When it was all over, he apologized to the director.

"Awfully sorry to be so stupid," said Hull. "But I've had one thing after another on my mind this morning. I've been cussin' since 7 o'clock."

GRIEF BROUGHT SUICIDE

Chicago — (AP) — Jacob Matern, 71, a manufacturing tailor, was found dead in the basement of his home yesterday. His wife, Elizabeth, told police he had hanged himself and that he had been grieving over the deaths of his two sons, Julius and Frank. They were killed August 7 when their cabin cruiser exploded in Lake Michigan.

East St. Louis, Ill. (AP) — John Joseph Halligan, 85, father of John J. Halligan, director of the department of education and registration for the state of Illinois, died in a St. Louis hospital yesterday.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

A fascinating pastime with Albert Edward Wiggam, S. Sc., Author of "THE MARKS OF A CLEAR MIND."

"The keenest anguish known to human nature is the pain of a new idea." (Bagehot). We hope this column brings you pain.

Answer to Question No. 1—

1. Obviously in the agricultural and commercial centers. This is not mere opinion but has been examined carefully by sociologists. The manufacturing centers, in need of mechanics and male machine tenders, attract more men than women. Consequently a widow or maiden lady in these places does not have much chance to remain in this blessed state long until some man leads her first to his kitchen.

Answer to Question No. 2—
2. True in some situations and false in others. Social intelligence tests show that women are better diplomats when the guest upsets his soup on the new table cloth. But in the larger affairs of business and political world I think it extremely doubtful that women are as good diplomats as men. Nevertheless, we are glad to recognize that a few have done pretty well at it, both when they were the actual officials and when they were the "woman behind the throne," as Chiang Kai-shek's wife seems to be in China today.

Answer to Question No. 3—
3. Certainly. The self-sufficient, dominating type of woman very often finds in a weak man just the bird she is looking for. Also the woman who is reasonably self-sufficient, not dominating, but of the motherly type, finds a joy in sort of mothering a man who is weaker than she is. Now and then these combinations seem to work out very well in marriage. Five minutes pause is given here for each husband to think whether or not this is his situation.

MEN'S CLUB MEET

Usually the Presbyterian Men's club has been content to provide their meetings with some local or nearby talent that could be had for traveling expenses or a little more. For their meeting next Tuesday evening, Nov. 22, however, and at considerable expense, they have gone out into the realm of real artists and have secured Miss Irene Bewley, an actress and monologist, in a performance of original monologues called "Smoky Mountain Sketches".

Bewley is a native of the Tennessee Hills and therefore, has first-hand knowledge of the people she portrays. When asked if she had done considerable research work for her sketches, she said: "Research?—Why I have never done an hour of research in my life—the characters and atmosphere of my monologues are all part of my own background and inheritance. The difference between me and the 'outlander' who comes into the mountains in search of material, is that the researcher has to hunt for the spring. I am always at the spring. I just put up the gourd and drink. It was interesting in that American of Americans, the southern Highlander, here is a chance to see him in action as Miss Bewley presents her mountain people. As in the case of the meeting, the regular dinner will be served to the members and their guests at about 6:30 next Tuesday evening, and about 7:15 will retire to the auditorium for the entertainment features. To this part of the program, an annual Thanksgiving Festival will be charged but an opportunity to contribute something may be afforded. We feel that here is a most outstanding program and that the people of Rochelle will appreciate this club having brought such an artist to town.

Here are Bruyere's "court breeches" under an unusual afternoon dress. In black silk jersey to match the fabric of the frock and bolero, they are finished with red velvet garters. The slightly flared skirt is entirely quilted as is the brief bolero jacket. The long bodice which molds waistline and hips is of plain jersey. The black astrakhan toque also is trimmed with red velvet. Notice the tiny astrakhan muffs.

James Melton to Sing in Freeport

Young Watchman Found Slain Near Roundhouse

East St. Louis, Ill., Nov. 21 — (AP)—Herbert Perry, 29-year-old watchman, was found shot to death early today near the Southern Railway roundhouse where he worked.

A discharged .45 caliber automatic pistol shell lay nearby, and two shells had been fired from his .44 caliber revolver.

Rollin Mills, shop foreman, told officers he heard the shots and found Perry slumped beside an automobile.

Mills said the watchman apparently had been shot by someone who had started to drain gasoline from the car, as its gas tank cap was off and an empty gasoline tin lay nearby.

Expansion of States' Labor Boards Planned

Washington, Nov. 21—(AP) — Gradual development and expansion of state labor commissions is becoming an indirect goal of the wage-hour administration.

An official close to Elmer F. Andrews, wage-hour administrator, said today that forthcoming allocation of federal funds to "proper" state labor departments to help enforce the new federal law would serve to "bring up to standard some of the agencies that have fallen behind."

This official, who preferred anonymity, suggested that the possibility of receiving federal funds might encourage some states to hasten enactment of broader minimum wage and maximum hour legislation.

Arab Rebel Purge in Holy Land Reported

Jerusalem, Nov. 21—(AP) — Sheikh Abdul Rahman el Khatib, leader of pro-British Arabs, who was shot Thursday, died today. He was a prominent member of the Palestine defense party, opposed to the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, exiled leader of Arabs in revolt against British rule in the Holy Land.

The shooting was believed to have been an Arab reprisal. It followed within 24 hours after a bold Palestine defense party memorandum against the Grand Mufti, Haj Amin el Hussein.

The newspaper Palestine Post asserted that 133 Arabs who opposed the Mufti's leadership had been assassinated in an Arab rebel "purge" during the past two years and seven months of disturbances. The paper added that 15,000 Arabs had fled from the Holy Land during that period.

Violation of Neutrality Act is Allegation

Corpus Christi, Texas, Nov. 21 — General Saturnino Cedillo, vanquished rebel leader of Mexico, and five other persons including two American aviators were indicted by a federal grand jury today for conspiring to violate and violating the amended neutrality act of 1937.

The indictment specifically alleged the transportation of two airplanes to General Cedillo from the United States in September, 1937. The planes were purchased, the indictment said, from a Chicago firm, some of whose officials were named as material witnesses, but were not indicted.

Cedillo was last reported hiding in Sonora, Mex. Indicted with him were Cloyd P. Clevenger of New York City,

It is reported that during 1937, 14 states diverted no funds at all from the revenue taken in from special additional highway taxes being dedicated to roads, and that nine states reduced the diversion substantially.

FANFARE—

By DON DANIELSON

Monday—and the Day of Reckoning again! Last Friday's guest pickster sailed through his predictions to the top bracket this week end to tie Bert Cummings with a percentage of .789. Elwood Schultz had 15 right, four wrong and one tie. The Florida-Georgia Tech game worked itself into a scoreless deadlock. Oregon just nosed out Washington for one of Schultz' wrong guesses and Syracuse took it from Columbia on a one-point margin. The Minnesota-Wisconsin game is better left unmentioned while Michigan turned tables on Schultz to defeat him and Ohio. So as matters stand, the diamond-studded cuff-links will have to be divided—one to Schultz and one to Cummings. Jim O'Malley came next in line with .772 and C. B. Lindell was third with .722. Others, in the order of their ratings, were: Jack Fritzen with .700; Bill Underwood, Jr., with .688; Ray Wilbur with .600 and Charlie Roundy with .529. We'll stick our chin out for the Turkey Day predictions just to crowd those in the lower brackets.

Six of the ten Dixon high school basketball players who went to the sectional last year are back for service with Coach Sharpe this season. They include: Page, guard; Wieman, guard; Bevilacqua, forward; Bugg, forward and center; McNamara, forward and Bush, center. Fellows who received lightweight letters who are back this year are Crawford, McGrail, Nicklaus, Moser, Cox, Moore, Richards, Rinehart and Kelchner.

Then there's that basketball practice on Wednesday night which the Alumni are asked to remember. Under the direction of Coach Charlie Roundy the boys will again scrimmage in preparation of the opening of the cage season here on Dec. 2 when the grads meet the high school regulars. The practice is set to begin at 6:45 P. M. and a meeting of the managers of the Industrial League will follow at 8:30. This is the last call for entries in the Industrial League and important matters are to be discussed.

Louis Bevilacqua, Dixon high school grid star, had his first sight of champion Notre Dame team, of which he hopes to become a member upon his graduation, when he witnessed the Northwestern-Notre Dame game at Dyche stadium, Evanston, Saturday afternoon in company with Edward "Sparky" Campbell and Emil Magnifil.

Notes from Madison: The Badgers had a fancy arm-swing in their backfield dance but the Gophers were fancier in a plainer way. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hinkle of Dixon helped to fill Camp Randall to overflowing. Mr. and Mrs. John Haas of Amboy "attended" two games Saturday afternoon. They were in Madison watching Wisconsin's slaughter and at the same time listening to the Notre Dame-Northwestern game over a portable radio. That's keeping up with the times.

Saturday's Stars

By the Associated Press.

Davey O'Brien, Texas Christian U. back—Completed 12 of 20 passes for three touchdowns and 117 yards, carried ball 14 times from scrimmage and gained 108 yards, returned five punts for 73 yards, scored fourth touchdown and kicked three conversions in rout of Rice.

Eric Tipton, Duke, back—Ran 33 yards from scrimmage, tossed 13-yard pass and swept tackle for two yards for only Duke touchdown in win over North Carolina State.

Willard Hofer, Notre Dame, back—Second-string quarterback—Intercepted pass and ran it back 65 yards for Irish touchdown, then place kicked 20-yard goal that beat Northwestern.

Frank Foley and Torbert MacDonald, Harvard, backs—Foley threw two passes to MacDonald, second for touchdown; MacDonald also ran 33 yards off tackle in 80-yard drive that brought one touchdown triumph over Yale.

Hugh McCullough, Oklahoma, back—Passed to set up Oklahoma's lone touchdown, place-kicked 20-yard field goal to end scoring in win over Iowa State.

Vic Bottari, California, back—Tossed touchdown pass to substitute end Engelo Reginato for Bears' win over Stanford.

Tom Harmon, Michigan, back—Smashed through line for first touchdown against Ohio State, passed over goal-line for second.

Dom Principe, Fordham, back—Galloped 63 yards for touchdown that started defeat of South Carolina.

Jack Brown, Purdue, back—Caught opening kickoff and ran back 98 yards to score against Indiana.

Bob Little, Army, guard—Played outstanding defensive game and fell on blocked punt for first touchdown against Princeton.

Bill Swan and Paul Snow, Utah, backs—Swan blocked and directed team brilliantly and Snow averaged 47 yards on punts in 39-0 win over Wyoming for Mountain Conference championship.

Dick Cassiano, Pittsburgh, back—Scored three touchdowns against Penn State on runs of 19, 28 and 26 yards.

Notre Dame to Open Against Purdue in '39

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 21—(AP)—Director of Athletics Elmer F. Layden announced today Notre Dame's nine-game football schedule for 1939.

Purdue, Southern Methodist and Iowa have been added to the card in addition to the traditional tilts with Army, Navy, Northwestern, Southern California, Georgia Tech and Carnegie Tech.

The opening game with Purdue, on Sept. 30, promises to be one of the year's best early battles.

Here is the schedule: (Games away from home designated.)

Sept. 30—Purdue; Oct. 7—Georgia Tech; 14—Southern Methodist; 21—Navy at Baltimore; 28—Carnegie at Pittsburgh; Nov. 4—Army at New York; 11—Iowa at Iowa City; 18—Northwestern; 25—Southern California.

Reason for Huddle

Ammon, Idaho, Nov. 21—(AP)—Just in case you've wondered why is a football huddle, take it from Ammon's six-man team that passing around signals is only one of its important uses.

The team has only eight suits, six helmets and six sets of shoulder pads. So whenever a substitute goes in he and his predecessor take advantage of the huddle to change clothes.

RUMOR SAYS TUBBS WILL NOT BE IOWA COACH NEXT SEASON

Chicago, Nov. 21—(AP)—Iowa is flirting with Eddie Anderson, head coach at Holy Cross, as successor to Irl Tubbs.

That was the report in Big Ten circles today after Tubbs, finishing a second disastrous season at the Hawkeye institution, had intimated very strongly that his contract would not be renewed. Tubbs, who came to Iowa from Miami (Fla.) university two years ago, has been the target of the Iowa Wolves almost from the beginning of the present season.

The Hawkeyes did no good for themselves this year, outside of beating Chicago 27 to 14 and holding Purdue to a scoreless tie.

Anderson, a crack end at Notre Dame in 1920 and 21, has had phenomenal success at Holy Cross. His present team has won seven out of eight games, registering 196 points against 44 by opponents.

While negotiations for his services are reported to be proceeding cautiously, probably no announcement regarding his appointment as Iowa coach will be made until after the meeting of Western Conference coaches and schedule makers here next month.

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 21—(AP)—Eddie Anderson, head football coach at Holy Cross, informed today of a report he was being considered as a successor to Irl Tubbs at Iowa, said "As far as I know I shall be back at Holy Cross in 1939."

He said the Hawkeye athletic management had made no advances to him.

Ohio State Halfback is Big Ten Scoring Leader

Chicago, Nov. 21—(AP)—Two big scoring sprees, one against Chicago for three touchdowns and another against Illinois for three more, were enough to win individual Big Ten football scoring honors for Jim Langhurst, Ohio State sophomore halfback. He wound up with 36 points, 15 more than Don Scott, a teammate.

Who Will Clash in Rose Bowl? Giants Trim Green Bay in Pro Football

RIVALS TO MEET FOR ROSE BOWL STILL UNKNOWN

Four Champs are Sporting New Crowns Which Cannot Be Upset

New York, Nov. 21—(AP)—Four sectional football champions are sporting brand new crowns that can't be knocked off until next season; the 1938 campaign is practically over in some regions; but the big question of which teams are to be rated the best in the nation, which two will meet New Year's Day in the Rose Bowl and in other post-season games, still is to be decided.

Most of these problems probably will be ironed out this week when the Thanksgiving Day classics and next Saturday's climax games bring the season almost to its end.

Last Saturday saw the Big Ten campaign close with Minnesota on top again; Oklahoma complete its sweep of Big Six honors; Duke walk off with the Southern Conference crown; Utah take the title in the Rocky Mountain Big Seven and California clinch at least a tie for Pacific Coast conference honors.

Each Has Claims

Each of these new champions has a claim of some sort to high national ranking, but there are other claims which must be considered. The "major" unbeaten and untied teams are Georgetown in the east; Notre Dame and Oklahoma in the midwest; Texas Christian in the southwest and Tennessee and Duke in the south.

From the sectional and "bowl" standpoint, the major events on this week's program are Thursday's Southern California-U.C.L.A. game, the probably decisive Tennessee-Kentucky and Texas-Christian-Southern Methodist contests and the intersectional battle between Duke and Pittsburgh.

Taking the week's program by sections, here is how the remaining races look.

East

Georgetown rallied to beat Maryland, 14-7, last Saturday and wind up as the only major unbeaten and untied team. The Army-Navy classic heads this week's slate. Army showed itself in fine shape for Saturday's conflict by whipping Princeton 19-7. Pittsburgh prepared for a decisive test against Duke by routing Penn State 26-0.

Middle West

Minnesota retained its Big Ten title by running over Wisconsin, a likely-looking candidate for the honor, 21-0, while Michigan knocked Ohio State out of the picture, 18-0. Purdue downed Indiana, 13-6, and Illinois routed Chicago, 34-0, in other final conference games.

Notre Dame got past Northwestern, 9-7, as young Willard Hofer scored all its points with a 65-yard runback of an intercepted pass and a 20-yard field goal. The Irish can rest on their very green laurels until they wind up against Southern California Dec. 3.

By conquering a stubborn Iowa State team, 10-0, Oklahoma's Sooners took the Big Six crown.

Southwest

Texas Christian walloped crippled Rice, 29-7, for its ninth straight victory and its fifth in the Southwest Conference. The Horned Frogs still have to beat Southern Methodist Saturday before they can claim the title and look toward a post-season bowl.

South

Duke completed its Southern Conference title campaign by downing North Carolina State, 7-0.

Far West

California's 6-0 conquest of Stanford assured the Bears of one half of the conference title. They won't get it all or the Rose Bowl bid unless U. C. L. A. downs Southern California Thursday.

Rocky Mountain Big Seven Utah, after swamping Wyoming, 39-0, to take the conference title, takes on Idaho, the Pacific Coast "orphan," Thursday.

Final Standing

Chicago, Nov. 21—(AP)—The Golden Gophers of Minnesota still wear the Western Conference football crown—a crown won in 1934 and never since won by any one except Northwestern's 1936 eleven.

THEY HAVE A HOBBY.
Helena, Mont.—(AP)—Outside of working hours two Helena businessmen, father and son, have become gold miners with their "digging" inside the city limits.

The two, Dean Kranich, clerk in the federal district court, and his father, George, are sinking a shaft in their backyard. They intend to dig until they strike granite, estimated to be 125 feet below the surface.

"It's entirely an elbow grease job to give us exercise," says Dean.

Their theory is that there should be a deposit of gold at bedrock, carried there by seepage through limestone. Gold has been found at other places inside Helena's city limits.

LAKE FOREST AND BRADLEY TIE FOR CONFERENCE TOP

Illinois College Loop Ends With Co-Champs In First Year

Chicago, Nov. 21—(AP)—The Illinois College conference settled for co-champions in its first football season.

Bradley and Lake Forest, each undefeated for the season in and outside of the conference, which succeeded from the Illinois intercollegiate group last year, were the title-holders. Each won four games.

Bradley, which also shared the Illinois intercollegiate championship last year, scored its deciding victory Saturday at the expense of Millikin, 42 to 0. It has not lost a conference grid battle in two years and has been scored on only twice in that period. Lake Forest ended its season two years ago.

Illinois Wesleyan, Illinois College and Wheaton ended in a three-way tie for third place, each with two triumphs and one defeat. The Illinois college kept Wheaton from an undefeated record by winning, 13 to 0, last week. Knox defeated Monmouth, 14 to 7, in last week's only other conference game.

Charity Game
Illinois Wesleyan and Illinois State Normal battled to a 7 to 7 tie in a non-conference engagement and will meet again Thursday for charity. Northern Illinois Teachers of DeKalb, who won the Illinois intercollegiate crown a week ago, also play Thursday. They will face Northeast Center university of Monroe, La., in an intersectional battle.

NEW YORK GIANTS DOWN GREEN BAY ON 15 TO 3 COUNT

Chicago, Nov. 21—(AP)—New York's Giants are riding a winning streak in the National Professional football league which may carry them to eastern division and league honors.

Their sixth straight victory, a league record for the season, came yesterday at the expense of Green Bay. It not only advanced their eastern title bid and prolonged the western division fight, but stamped them as a sure menace should they clash with the packers again in the playoff. By virtue of their decisive 15 to 3 triumph, the Giants became the only eastern club this year to defeat Green Bay which also was seeking its 6th straight.

Detroit kept its chances alive by defeating the Chicago Cardinals 7 to 3 and can tie Green Bay at eight victories and three defeats by disposing of Chicago's Bears and Philadelphia in its last two games. The Bears and Lions will meet at Detroit Thursday. Yesterday the Bears eliminated Brooklyn from eastern title consideration with a 24 to 6 triumph.

New York must protect its eastern lead against Brooklyn Thursday and after that will settle the title issue with Washington's Redskins, providing the defending champions can overcome Pittsburgh Sunday. Pirates lost to Philadelphia yesterday 14 to 7. Cleveland will play the Cards at Chicago in Sunday's other game.

THREE WOLVERINES NAMED IN AP'S ALL BIG TEN GRID TEAM

Chicago, Nov. 21—(AP)—The 1938 all Big Ten eleven reflected Michigan's football renaissance today as Western Conference coaches named three Wolverines, including two sophomores, in their annual selections for The Associated Press.

Tom Harmon, halfback, and Forest Evashevski, quarterback, were the sophomores—the first to earn all conference ranking since 1934 when Ed Widwest of Minnesota and Merle Wendt of Ohio State achieved first year honors.

Last year all were seniors except Francis Twedell of Minnesota, Twedell placed again this year, sharing guard honors with Ralph Heikinen, Michigan's third member—one more than any other school placed.

The coaches nominated three juniors—Jack Murray of Wisconsin, center; Erwin Prasse of Iowa, end, and Louis Brock, of Purdue, halfback.

The team was rounded out with such veterans as Bob Haak of Indiana and Joe Mihal of Purdue at tackle, Cleo Diehl of Northwestern at end and Wisconsin's Howie Weiss at fullback. Weiss topped all other players in the poll with eight first team votes.

Several coaches in selecting the Evashevski-Harmon-Brock-Weiss backfield called it a "dream" offensive combination. Evashevski and Harmon established themselves as great blockers. Weiss supplied both durability and speed. Harmon and Brock, also kickers and passers, were the "long run" threats.

Players just nosed out of first team honors were Vince Gavre, Wisconsin, quarterback; George Naeff, Minnesota end, and Bob Voigts and John Haman, Northwestern tackle and center, respectively. Other second team members were John Marucci, Minnesota end; Alex Schoenbaum, Ohio State tackle; Guards Lynn Hovland of Wisconsin and Hal Method of Northwestern; Halfbacks Wilbur Moore of Minnesota and Roy Bellin of Wisconsin, and Larry Buhler, Minnesota fullback.

JUST HIS STYLE.
New York, Nov. 21—Teddy Mazur, Manhattan's star punter, doesn't raise his kicking leg any higher than his waist, but his efforts often travel 60 yards.

Rural electric lines constructed or planned by cooperative associations are expected to furnish electricity to a total of 36,200 Kentucky farms by the end of 1939.

On the Side

Bits of Gossip of Sports Picked Up by AP Writer

By SID FEDER

New York, Nov. 21—(AP)—So Harvard starts the campaign by getting kicked around four times, and winds up with the Big Three title. Well, if you didn't know what kind of a season it was, you do now. The Grapevine says there'll be a shakeup on the New York Boxing Commission before Santa Claus gets here. This corner has been asked to recommend a player-manager (catcher) for an up-and-coming club in a fast Class "D" league. Those interested, please write in a hurry. That Davey O'Brien didn't hurt his All-America chances even a little bit against Rice. The big little TCUEr only tossed three touchdowns passes, scored once himself, gained 108 yards on the ground and 117 in the air. Outside of that, he wasn't busy at all.

Tim Mara's New York pro Giants franchise cost him just $2,800. And yesterday's game against the Packers drew only 48,000 fans. Incidentally, it looks like the biggest year ever for the National Pro league. Even Bert Bell's Philly Eagles have plenty of black ink on the books. Horton Smith, the golfer, is listed in the new social register, m'deah. Some horsemen insist the shoes really won for Seabiscuit over the Admiral. They point out the 'Biscuit was dancing around in light aluminum plates, and Man O'War's boy wore "clogs" twice as heavy.

Iowa State managed only 87 yards through the line against Oklahoma, and some of the folks think that didn't make those Sooners look so good. What do they expect—bingo? S'pose you folks noticed this department's tip on the Yankees sending Johnny Bronco to the Indians came through over the week-end. Wonder if even Elmer Layden knew Will Hofer was on that Notre Dame "army" before last Saturday. All he did was go 65 yards for a touchdown and then boot a field goal to personally manhandle Northwestern.

A golf pro, who's made the circuit more than once, tells this corner that only ten per cent of 'em break even or better in the grapefruit campaigning. And the other 90 pay the freight. So they thought they could take the Big Ten championship away from Bernie Bierman. Guess they didn't know he had an option on it.

Honolulu and Rose Bowl Eyed by Western Teams

Los Angeles, Nov. 21—(AP)—Southern California and University of California at Los Angeles will clash in a football game here Thanksgiving Day, with:

1. Southern California fighting for a chance to go into the Rose Bowl;

2. U. C. L. A. struggling to lose a jaunt to sunny Honolulu.

That will be the situation when these cross-town rivals tie up before some 75,000 patrons next Thursday

COMMUNISM AND CHRISTIANITY SERMON THEME

The Rev. Herbert Doran of Presbyterian Church Spoke on Vital Theme

"Are Christianity and Communism Allies or Rivals?" was the theme of the sermon by the Rev. Herbert J. Doran at the Dixon Presbyterian church Sunday morning. Mr. Doran stated that there are few words that stir up more emotion and less intelligence in the minds of many people today than do "Christianity" and "Communism." He stated that it was unfortunate that the atmosphere was so charged with hysteria, "like a child who pulls the cover over his head and refuses to look at the hobgoblins around his bed," for there never was a time when the world more needed to think clearly on this subject.

Mr. Doran then defended the right of a minister to speak on the subject of Communism, but made clear that it was the obligation of each individual to think through the problem for himself rather than to accept without question the pronouncements of the pulpit. He said, "If there is any realm where the spirit of Christ may not enter, then we may as well shut Him from all realms. If there is any spot where the teaching of Christ dare not be applied, then we may as well close this Bible and keep it under lock and key. If there is any problem of thought or life where a minister dare not speak his Christian conviction, then he may as well remain silent on all issues."

Defined Terms
By way of defining the terms he used, the speaker said that by Christianity he did not mean the corrupted kind of Christianity prevalent in Russia during Tzarist days, nor did he mean a theological system of belief, but rather the teachings and spirit of Christ as best we are able to understand them.

He then pointed out that the word "Communism" is frequently used very loosely so as to include Republican senators and millionaires, and that when it is pinned on someone as a label it usually means only that he is more liberal than others. Mr. Doran said it would be unfortunate for the word to be given this meaning for then we would need a new word to stand for the people who really are communists. The person who lumps all liberals, socialists and communists together under the term "Reds" does so either from ignorance, or else to becloud the issue and prevent clear thinking.

The speaker defined his use of the word as referring to "the Communism of the Third International, such as under the Bolshevik Party rules Soviet Russia, which believes in a dictatorship by representatives of the working class, maintained by violence and force, to own and control the means of production for the benefit of the working class."

The history of Communism was then traced briefly from Karl Marx to the present. Authorities, including John Gunther and E. Stanley Jones, were then quoted to show the amazing industrial and educational advance made by Russia in the twenty-one years since the revolution. At this point Mr. Doran asked that he be not misunderstood as advocating Communism, that he was merely being fair and giving facts that were easily verifiable, and that he felt it was a mistake to shut one's eyes to truth.

Some Common Ideals
Mr. Doran then listed some ideals which Communism and Christianity have in common, namely, both are interested in bettering the condition of the poor, doing away with economic injustice, and creating a better world in which to live. Both demand that the individual sacrifice himself for the good of others.

Fundamental differences between Communism and Christianity were then analyzed by the pastor. Communism is divisive, interested only in the working class. Christianity is inclusive, interested in a brotherhood of all men. "Christianity can make no compromise with the class selfishness of either communists or capitalists," he said.

Communism is concerned only with the economic side of life, Christianity with all of life. Russian Communism denies God. Christianity puts God central, and maintains that spiritual forces are the most important. Christianity takes into account the need for a redeemed individual without any economic system will fail.

Greatest Difference
The greatest difference is one of method, and it is this which makes Christianity and Communism incompatible. The method of Communism is violent revolution. They believe that class warfare is inevitable because those in power in government and industry do not hesitate to use force and bloodshed to maintain their present position of power. "With this method, on the part of either, Jesus made no compromise," said Mr. Doran. "Christianity depends on love and goodwill, and in America, on democracy and the ballot box. The communist says the ends justify the means. The Christian says you cannot separate the means from the end. You cannot build a kingdom of love and justice by using hatred and injustice. These will in the end destroy the good you attempt to accomplish, like a nurse whose hands carry an infection that is worse than the illness she strives to cure. For this reason Christianity and Communism cannot be allies. They are rivals."

Mr. Doran then pointed out that the most harm was done by unintelligent, blind, hysterical reaction to communism. He compared those who oppose communism by these methods to a man who is backing away from a barking dog, fell off a high porch and broke his leg, making his condition worse than if the dog had bit him. Italy and Germany backed away from Communism into Fascism which has the same evils without any of the ideals. Sinclair Lewis' novel, "It Can't Happen Here" shows that in America we are in greater danger of Fascism than Communism.

Ready to Believe Lie
The reason for this was given by the speaker. "When we hear the word Communism we throw a fit of hysterics. We use exactly the same methods we object to in the communists. We are too ready to believe a lie about anyone who is branded a communist instead of searching for the truth. We ourselves tear down those constitutional guarantees of free speech, free press, and even religious liberty. We are not willing to trust the ballot box, which is the heart of democracy, but instead direct violence and persecution at those with whom we disagree. And thus we back into the very thing we object to in communism."

For the sake of clearing up misunderstanding the pastor of the Presbyterian church made the following statement. "I am not a communist. I am unalterably opposed to the methods of Soviet Communism and many of its ideals. But I am willing to recognize good wherever I see it, even in communism, and I refuse to let that good be monopolized by even the devil. I will continue to strive to carry out all of Christ's teachings even though others may have adopted some planks from his platform for bringing justice to the poor and underprivileged. "I am opposed to communism, but I shall try to be intelligent—and fair—in my opposition to it. I shall not help to create the evils which I abhor by combatting communism with its own methods of violence, intolerance, censorship, and dictatorship, and so bring about a fascism that is as bad as communism. I am opposed to them both and I believe that our protection from both is to be found only in creating the Kingdom of God on earth with love and justice for all. In the words of E. Stanley Jones, "We must provide something better than Communism or succumb to it. The only way to beat them is to beat them to it."

BATISTA DEPARTS
New York, Nov. 21—(AP)—Colonel Fulgencio Batista, Cuban leader, traveled homeward today after pledging that his country would stand with other American nations against "all political penetration foreign to the ideals of the Americans."

Ending a 10-day visit to the United States, the commander-in-chief of the Cuban army will reach Miami by train Tuesday and sail Wednesday for Havana aboard a Cuban gunboat.

The food required for a family of four for 22 years would be worth $12,000, according to one home economist.

DEMOCRATIC HIGH COMMAND MEETS TO STUDY ELECTIONS

New York, Nov. 21—(AP)—Half a hundred top Democratic leaders, representing the area from the Mississippi east to the Atlantic, met today with Postmaster General James A. Farley to take private stock of the post-election situation, and to discuss future Democratic policies with 1940 in mind.

They had been called here without public announcement by Farley, the party's national chairman. Democratic national committee headquarters was extraordinarily reticent about the conference.

The meeting, which was closed, had been described officially as designed to make plans for the customary Jackson Day dinner of January 8, but an authoritative source conceded that a main unstated purpose was to talk over Republican gains in the elections of November 8.

A number of national committeemen from southern and eastern states were among the conferees. Others were ranking regional leaders.

Among matters under discussion was the recent activity of Mayor F. H. LaGuardia of New York in undertaking to spearhead what he has termed a solidification of the country's progressive forces.

Some regular Democratic leaders have given evidence of concern that the mayor, himself a member of the minority American Labor party, had the creation of a third party in mind.

The only formal conference he has held thus far, however, was with Governor Murphy of Michigan and Senator Bulkley of Ohio, both Democrats defeated for reelection. The three talked here a week ago, and neither visitor showed enthusiasm for any new political movement.

Murphy in particular was emphatic in the contention that progressives must work under the leadership of President Roosevelt. The Democrat assemblage probably will extend to tomorrow, with only selected leaders remaining over.

One source intimated that there was a desire, among other things, to attempt to dispel any remaining party coolness due to Roosevelt's efforts in the primaries to "purge" certain members of Congress unsatisfactory to him.

Urge Palestine Quota on Jews Be Increased

Washington, Nov. 21—(AP)—A large-scale settlement scheme for Palestine received the support today of a group of American Jewish leaders seeking to aid their co-religionists in Germany.

The group, called together from 65 Atlantic seaboard cities by the United Palestine Appeal, urged President Roosevelt yesterday to ask Great Britain to throw open Palestine to German Jews. The present immigration quota would admit only 4,879 in the next six months whereas, the group was told, Palestine could accommodate 400,000 additional.

Trial of Alleged Spies in Canal Zone on Dec. 7

Cristobal, Canal Zone, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Four youthful Germans accused of photographing Canal Zone fortifications in violation of the United States espionage act pleaded innocent today in federal court.

The case was set for trial Dec. 7, before a jury, with each defendant to be tried separately. The four, one a girl, were arrested Oct. 16.

On motion of defense counsel, bail for Hans Friedrich Shackow, 26, was reduced from $25,000 to $15,000. Bail for the three other defendants, Ingeborg Waltrunt Gutmann, 19; Gisbert Wilhelm Gross, 26, and Ernst Robert Edward Khurig, 29, was cut from $10,000 to $5,000 each.

Judge Bunk Gardner authorized the defendants and their counsel to examine in court prosecution exhibits of photographs assertedly made by the quartet.

SPokesman Says JAPS DO NOT LIKE TERM "OPEN DOOR"

Tokyo, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The foreign office spokesman touched upon discrimination he said existed against Japanese in the United States in a discussion today of the open door policy in China.
"We do not like the terms open door and equal opportunity," the spokesman asserted, indicating the government was considering a concrete statement of what it considers inapplicable ideas and principles of the past."
He stressed the meanings he held could be found between the lines of the Japanese reply Friday denying American charges of "unwarranted interference" with interests in China.
"The Japanese note, he said, 'does not specifically mention the nine-power pact (acknowledging the principle of the 'open door') nor the principles of the open door and equal opportunity."
"Respecting these latter I must say that Japan does not like the terms. They are not applied anywhere else in the world, neither in the United States nor in any other country."
"Therefore, why should it be insisted that they continue to exist in China?"
He added that discrimination "does exist" against Japanese residing in America.
"It exists in the lands and laws of the various states and in the national policy of exclusion."
"Whether Japan will specifically point out these facts in later communications to America is not yet decided."

From the newspaper Hochi came an editorial declaration that the question of the open door was not restricted to China but involved the ultimate domination of the entire western Pacific.
The answer, said the paper, will be determined by who is "master of the western Pacific"—reflecting the Japanese naval view that control of Pacific ocean sea lanes is equal in importance to control of Asiatic mainland areas.

Britisher Arrested in Attempt to Claim Wife

Moscow, Nov. 21.—(AP)—A British engineer who made a madcap airplane flight into Soviet Russia to try to get his Russian-born wife out of the country is under arrest here.

The engineer, Bryan Grover, without entry visa for himself or exit visa for his wife, flew from Stockholm and landed last Monday at Stariza, 100 miles short of Moscow. He was arrested there.

He has been trying for more than a year to get a permit for his wife to leave. Russian law does not recognize marriage to a foreigner as an acceptable reason for leaving the country.

The two were married while he worked in the Soviet oil industry several years ago. He later went to Iran (Persia), intending to return for his wife, but was unable to obtain a re-entry visa.

He hoped by the flight to attract attention of some high Soviet official who would aid his cause.

In making the airport at Juneau, Alaska, 50,000 years of glacial gravel were blasted out to make a 3,000-foot runway. The field is at the foot of the giant Mendenhall glacier.

QUEEN MAUD OF NORWAY IS DEAD

Norway and Britain are Saddened by Passing of King's Consort

(Picture on Page 1)
London, Nov. 21—(AP)—Norway and Britain today mourned the passing of Norway's English-born Queen Maud, who died in a London nursing home early Sunday of a heart attack four days after an abdominal operation.

The queen was 68 years old. Aunt of King George VI of Great Britain and last surviving child of Edward VII, her death came so suddenly that only a nurse was at her bedside.

King Haakon of Norway was at Buckingham Palace where he has been staying since the queen's grave illness brought him hurrying from Oslo.

The queen died 13 years to the day after her mother, Queen Alexandra. Thus the royal generation fathered by Edward VII ends while strangely the previous generation—children of Queen Victoria—still survives through Princess Louise, 90, the Duke of Connaught, 88, and Princess Beatrice, 81.

Simple Announcement
Norway, encouraged by earlier favorable news from the queen's bedside, was saddened when an official broadcast of King Haakon's message to the London Norwegian church told of her death.

"God has taken my queen from me this night and it is a heavy loss for me to bear, though I well understand it is his will," said the simple words of the customarily shy monarch.

The queen's body is to lie in state tomorrow in the chapel of Marlborough House and Wednesday will be placed aboard a British battleship to be escorted by four destroyers to Norway.

Either the Duke of Kent or the Duke of Gloucester is expected to represent King George at funeral services in Oslo.

Wisp of Woman
Maud, Norway's "little queen," was the third daughter of Edward VII of England, the first cousin of her husband, Haakon VII, and three years his senior.

She was a wisp of a woman, the top of her head coming below the shoulder of her tall husband when they stood alongside each other. The queen weighed less than 120 pounds.

They were married July 22, 1896, when Haakon was Prince Charles of Denmark, second son of the crown prince of that country. They were called to the throne of Norway in 1905 when that country divorced itself from the dominion of Sweden.

The queen's early married life in Copenhagen was far from pleasant. Her mother-in-law, Princess Louise of Denmark, was a domineering woman more than 6 feet tall who had planned to marry Prince Charles to Queen Wilhelmina of Holland thus obtaining thrones for both her sons. When he balked this scheme by falling in love with Princess Maud and insisting upon marrying her his mother was bitterly disappointed.

Court Hostile
The court atmosphere in Copenhagen was far from pleasant.

hagen was, in fact, so hostile to the shy little English bride that she spent most of her time in her home country. It was even proposed at one stage that Charles should renounce his Danish citizenship and become a British subject, but old King Christian of Denmark, "grandfather of Europe," refused to consent to the plan.

Instead the old king interested himself actively in his grandson's wife and when a son was born to Maud and Charles and her father ascended the British throne, the balance of court favor swung to her side. Her mother-in-law's opposition was completely defeated when Norway summoned Charles to its renewedly independent throne.

Queen Maud's son, born July 2, 1903, was her only child. The boy was christened Prince Alexander but when his parents went to Norway and his father revived the kingly name of Haakon, a royal decree changed the son's name to Olaf. The boy was trained as crown prince of Norway and on March 21, 1929, married Princess Martha of Sweden.

Spirit of Fun
Queen Maud was noted for a spirit of fun and for her "way" with children. She romped with her son through his boyhood days and in the snowy months it was a common sight to see her coasting with the boy on a sled down the slope that led from the winter lodge near Oslo toward the city.

Once she nearly collided with a horse and sleigh plodding up the hill. She barely had time to throw Olaf into the snow and then steer her sled into the ditch to avoid a crash. The woman who was driving did not recognize the queen and gave the latter a sharp scolding for not managing her sled better.

Maud also became an adept at the Norwegian national sport of skiing. Neither she nor Haakon had attempted the sport when they first went to Norway, but while the king learned to manage the long, narrow snow shoes only at the expense of several head-first plunges into drifts, friends said that they never saw Queen Maud lose her balance.

In summer the queen was a hiker and equestrian. She rode side saddle and had a favorite white mount which she used to take with her on her annual visits to England.

C. and showed very clearly the rise and fall of the different religions up to the present time. Chapter three of the study book, "Moving Millions," was presented by Mrs. George Ross, who compared "Old India" and "Modern India," and discussed briefly some of the conditions in that country.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Robert Thrasher followed by the prayer circle. The repeating of Scripture texts learned since the last meeting proved to be an interesting part of the program. After a short business session the meeting closed to meet with Miss Lenora Koford, Dec. 15. A

INDIAN TEA ON WEDNESDAY
Golden chrysantheums decorated the tea table on Wednesday when 60 members and guests of the Presbyterian Women's Missionary society of Sterling were entertained with an Indian tea in the church social room. The entertainment was an Indian playlet. Another interesting feature was a short talk concerning the untouchables in India by Mrs. George Ross from here, returned missionary and five years a teacher in a girls' orphanage in Bombay, India. She appeared in a Hindu costume and Mrs. John B. Platt, in costume, and representing the character of the "sweeper," illustrated her story. In closing, Mrs. Ross stated that India is destined to be a Christian nation, and in the native language she sang two of their songs, "The Need of Christ," and "The Vanity of Works."

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Harmon Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. Howard Switzer, Thursday afternoon, November 17. The president, Mrs. Ellis Kiegl, called the meeting to order and the following program was given:

Song by the group, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," "Re-fresher Studies on India," by Mrs. Goble Wadsworth, who started back in 1900 B. C. and showed very clearly the rise and fall of the different religions up to the present time.

Chapter three of the study book, "Moving Millions," was presented by Mrs. George Ross, who compared "Old India" and "Modern India," and discussed briefly some of the conditions in that country.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Robert Thrasher followed by the prayer circle. The repeating of scripture texts learned since the last meeting proved to be an interesting part of the program. After a short business session the meeting closed to meet with Miss Lenora Koford, December 15. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

People's Column
A dear friend, Miss Bertha Hanes has passed on. The transition from the earth to the spirit world has been made; the mystery solved and now she is delighting in the solution. She has many friends here but what a throng she has in the other world and how happy they are to have her with them for all eternity. I have known her for many years as a friend, a co-worker and also a co-worker. With the remembrance of years of friendship I sincerely voice my tribute to this dear friend. I knew of her work as a nurse—school nurse, home nurse, home helper, S. S. worker and a faithful Christian Endeavorer and a church member.

In her capacity as school nurse she was especially efficient, in truth, she was one of the best "Welfare workers" the city has ever had. But she who had been so helpful to others, herself became almost helpless and had to be cared for. During these years, she has been patient, uncomplaining and happy. With her keen intelligence, she enjoyed her literature; her friends were many to whom she gave her appreciation and sympathy. So with a memory of her kindness and goodness, I rejoice that she has safely arrived "Home."

I say "Good night" here and "Good Morning" over there.

Millie D. Richardson.

Carrollton, Ill.—(AP)—Norbert Lee Reece, 2, died in his parents' farm home yesterday as his father tried vainly to rescue him. The father, Edwin Reece, rescued his wife and two other children when he awoke and found the house in flames, but was unable to reach the room where his youngest child was sleeping.

ILLINOIS REVENUE ACT MAY BE REVAMPED BY LEGISLATURE

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 21—(AP)—Revamping of the state's revenue act without substantive changes was discussed today by the Illinois Legislative Council as it prepared to draft its first law-making recommendations to the General Assembly.

The suggested division, sponsored by Rep. Edward J. McCabe of Chicago and designed primarily to modernize assessment and collection of property taxes, was one of six subjects on the agenda of the 22-member council headed by Rep. Benjamin S. Adamowski, also of Chicago.

Factural reports, without recommendations, were prepared by the council's own research department on all six subjects. Besides the revenue act, the others are schools, circuit court re-districting, the oil industry, labor preference and congressional and senatorial reapportionment.

Out of the two-day meeting of the council or so-called "little legislature" was expected to come a program of legislation to be submitted to the 61st general assembly convening in six weeks.

Senator T. V. Smith, Chicago Democrat and newly elected congressman-at-large, was author of the law creating the council. He wanted to test the theory that the law-making process could be improved and speeded up by advance research in those subjects certain to come before the legislature later.

The new study of the revenue act pointed out the bulk of the revenue act relating to the property taxes came from laws enacted in 1872 and 1898. The report said piecemeal amendments during four decades had caused sections to become confusing, obsolete or invalid.

Administration of tax laws are complicated by that condition, the report said.

Turks Pay Last Tribute to Their Dead President

Ankara, Turkey, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Funeral honors surpassing those once given to Ottoman Sultans were accorded to Kamal Ataturk today in this modern capital he created from a village.

The body of the late president lay in state before the grand national assembly, on a catafalque adorned by a wreath of red and white roses from his divorced wife, while Turkish men and women passed by all night and until the state ceremonies began.

Ataturk had renounced his foreign decorations, so only a gold medal given him by the nation in appreciation of his leadership in the "war of independence" was displayed.

Distinguished foreign representatives at the ceremonies included the Greek dictator, John Metaxas, and statesmen and soldiers from Germany, France, Italy and England.

Tens of thousands of Turkish natives joined with the envoys in the elaborate services, for which the government appropriated a half-million dollars.

The body arrived yesterday from Istanbul where Ataturk died. Until a mausoleum is constructed, a burial niche was designated in the Ethnographic Museum.

The Department of Agriculture was formed in 1889 under President Grover Cleveland and its secretary was given a place in the cabinet.
